CIO|09 The Year Ahead

November 9 - 11, 2008

Loews Coronado Bay | Coronado, California

CIO|09 is CIO magazine's annual forward-looking meeting for CIO's and senior executives from leading business, government and non-profit organizations. We'll explore major trends in the economy, politics, jobs and people, law and society, technology, global citizenship, sourcing, and the future of IT. We'll analyze the impact these issues are likely to have on business—and the CIO's role—over the coming 6-12 months. We'll help participants incorporate all this into their IT strategy for the upcoming year by having them share best practices and tactics for the problems and opportunities these trends present.

CIO Executives Roundtables

Throughout 2008 | Various Cities

The role of today's CIO and senior IT executive supersedes the nuts and bolts of technology. IT is expected to both cut costs and drive innovation; with the CIO as both technology and strategic business leader. CIO magazine's Roundtable discussion series delivers topics that will allow you to meet your objectives with compelling content designed to address the key issues and technologies of the day.
